PROFILE

I specialize in information technology and have a great passion on artificial intelligence. I am currently a 2nd year student at Bilkent University CTIS department. I had an opportunity to work with a team to build up CRM, ERP and other Software production processes. Although my technical specifications were limited, my curiosity kept growing on the field. Our team decided to build up a startup company and I became a founding member. However, I was mainly focusing on networking rather than coding. So I decided to improve my technical specifications and seeking to find a job with focuses ranging from UI development, SEO specialization to DevOps.

My main aim is to have a in-class learning experience to fulfill my personal and professional development need. Being a student with a passion on SaaS companies, I want to have fun and contribute to global communities / companies.
